

National Research Repository
Title of project	ARC Linkage Project: LP100100380
Title of report	The use of education research in policy-making: the experiences and perspectives of academic researchers and policy officials
Author(s)	Michele Ferguson & Brian Head
Organisation(s)	The Institute for Social Science Research (ISSR) and The University of Queensland
HREC Approval Number
Date of publication	2015
Jurisdictions	Federal, QLD, NSW, VIC
Area of research (key words)	Education research, policy development, social research,
Abstract of report	There can often be a gap between the rhetoric and reality in relation to claims that policy is actually evidence-based or evidence-informed. Commitment to better use of rigorous research evidence in the formation of economic/social policy has resulted in governments looking to social science research to help shape and better implement social policy objectives.
Link to report (if available)	http://www.issr.uq.edu.au/filething/get/38321/AARE%202015_EBP%20slides_full%20version_19.11.15.pdf
Copy of report (if no link)
Link to researcher email	mc.ferguson@uq.edu.au
Link to project website	http://www.issr.uq.edu.au/EBP-home
Implications for education jurisdictions and schools	